It is feared that freedom of speech in the street may lead to local agitation for or against the prisoners, and possible disorders might result.

DUBLIN BILL MAKES APPEARANCE TODAY

Crowds in the House of Commons When It Appears for Consideration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, May 7.—The Irish council bill, the object of which is to "provide for the establishment and functions of an administrative council" at Dublin was introduced in the house of commons this afternoon by the chief secretary for Ireland, Birrell, before an audience which crowded every corner of the house.

Birrell explained the object of the bill was to associate a sentiment of Irish people as whole with the administration of statutes and regulations which directed the conduct of purely Irish affairs. It did not contain any trace of new legislative power. It would not authorize the levying of a single tax, or rate. The secretary said if the new council proved a success, it might pave the way for home rule.

San Francisco Carpenter Kills Six Persons in His Boarding House With Gun.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
San Francisco, May 7.—Walter Charles Davis, a carpenter, in a fit of insanity today shot and killed a family of six persons with whom he resided. The dead are Orson R. Bush, aged 57, his wife and son, W. S. Bard, a carpenter, M. E. Zinn, a surveyor and Mrs. Lillian D. Carothero, and elderly woman boarder.

Davis and his victims all resided with the Bush family, who conducted a boarding house. The Davis home was in Farmersville, this state, where he has a wife and six children. Davis fancied the people in the house had formed a plot to kill him and take his money. Davis was later arrested.

The Roethe bill to provide for the recall of state officers when they prove recreant to their pledges, and the Grassie resolution to change the constitution so as to give the attorney general a term of ten years and an annual salary of $10,000 were killed by the assembly.

There was no substantial or significant change in the joint ballot on senator at noon today, except that Senator Burns, a Cooper man, went to Esch, and Fred Peterson, a democrat, went to Hatten, and Anderson, a democrat, voted for Stephenson. Harrass went back from Winkler to Stephenson.

CANADA INCREASES MAIL MATTER RATES

Second Class Charge Quadrupled and United States Publications Will Suffer.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Ottawa, Ont., May 7.—The existing postal treaty between Canada and the United States expires by limitation at midnight tonight. The Dominion government having notified the Washington authorities of its desire to have the treaty abrogated. All efforts on the part of the United States to have the treaty renewed have failed and tomorrow Canada will put into effect the new postal rates already decided upon. Second class mail matter, including newspapers, magazines, and books, is the only matter that will be affected by the change. On this class of matter coming from the United States Canada will advance the rate from 1 to 4 cents a pound. The effect will be according to all expectations that the circulation of American newspapers and magazines in the Dominion will be considerably cut down. The principal reason advanced by Canada for the increase in rates is that the old rates were far more benefit to the United States than to Canada as the circulation of American publications in Canada was far in excess of that of Canadian publications in the United States. The real cause for the change, however, is probably to be found in the loud and continued protest of Canadian merchants that the advertisements in the magazines and newspapers so freely circulated on this side of the border resulted in taking vast sums of money out of the pockets of Canadians and putting it into the pockets of merchants in the United States to the consequent loss of Canadian merchants.

MORE TALK AS TO THAT INTERURBAN

NOT EXPECTED TO BUILD THIS YEAR.

MONTGOMERY TALKS PLANS

On the Other Hand Clough is Said to Be Trying to Secure Capital for His Project at Once.

President Montgomery, of the Madison street car system, has at last broken his long silence on the question of building an interurban from Madison to Janesville. He admits he is at present making comprehensive survey of a route from Madison to Stoughton, with the idea of sometime building a line that far. The prices of materials and labor, however, are too high at the present time, to allow the immediate construction of the road. He says he will welcome and assist over his lines any man who will construct a line from Janesville to Madison.

"We have surveyed the ground between Madison and Stoughton with the idea we might sometime want to build an interurban line," declared Mr. Montgomery. "At the present time we are perfecting those plans and making a more comprehensive survey."

"Prices too high."
"Just now we have no idea of building the line this year. Prices of material and labor are too high. Of course, if prices should drop something might be done, I have not surveyed between Stoughton and Janesville. I do not want to say what I intend to do, for things may so develop as to make it feasible. I think there is a good opportunity in building this line, but at the present time, with the unsatisfactory conditions of the money market I don't believe any plan will carry."
I am not attempting to do bonds to build a road from Madison to Janesville. Not a bond has been printed. I don't know what Mr. Clough is doing. He has not been into my office for almost a year. For a year and a half his attorneys have been talking about this line and nothing has been done. We stand ready to welcome the man who will build a line for this route and will do all we can to assist him."

Several surveys made.
Mr. Montgomery said when he first came to Madison he had a talk with Mr. Clough about the interurban between Madison and Janesville. He said Clough agreed to survey from Janesville to Stoughton and Mr. Montgomery was to survey the line from Madison to Stoughton. Mr. Montgomery said the first thing he knew of the survey made by Clough had changed his opinion as to the feasibility of the line. He said he had since only attended to his own plan of surveying from Madison to Stoughton.

Madison ideas.
The Wisconsin State Journal in talking of the subject has the following to say relative to the road and Mr. Clough's attitude. The city should grant a franchise for Mr. Montgomery or Mr. Clough, to transfer passengers before the city limits were reached. But if the line is really built it is safe to say that there will be no difficulties on this point. When the line is completed and the first big modern interurban car leaves Janesville for Madison its progress will be watched every mile of the distance and when it reaches South Madison there will probably be a delegation of city officials and citizens to meet the car, decorate it with colors and lead it with a brass band and escort it in to the heart of the city. The only use that a franchise would be to Mr. Montgomery would be that it would help him in the sale of his bonds.

Clough's Attorney Talks.
Thomas S. Nolan of Janesville, the attorney for Mr. Clough, the Cleveland capitalist who proposes to build an electric line from Janesville to Madison, was in this city yesterday. Mr. Nolan was asked what progress his client had made in his preparation for building the interurban. He replied that Mr. Clough has accomplished the most important work connected with the enterprise. He had secured a franchise from the city of Janesville, had an option on the local line in Janesville, and had completed his survey between Janesville and Madison.

"We expect now," said Mr. Nolan, "to begin work the coming summer."

or at least in the fall. The line as projected will approach Madison by way of the fair grounds, using the old Northwestern grade, which extends south from the fair grounds to the Nine Spring creek. Just what arrangement we will make to get into Madison we haven't yet determined. If we can, we shall conclude some deal with Mr. Montgomery to use his South Madison line from the fair grounds. If we can't make such an arrangement we shall have to ask for a franchise of our own to enter the city."

Has Spent Much Money.
"Mr. Clough has already expended on his survey between the two cities more than $20,000 and believes he has selected the most feasible and useful route for the people living between the two cities. Of course, this is not an easy time to raise money. If it had been, the work on the new line would have been long ago before this. I do not think, however, there is any this summer or early in the fall."

It is evident from Mr. Nolan's statement that there is no connection between the enterprise being promoted by the Clough syndicate and Mr. Montgomery's scheme for a Janesville and Madison interurban. There will not of course be two lines built, and what ever the conflicting interests may be, they will be reconciled by one or by the other beginning work first, or by one being absorbed by the other. If Mr. Montgomery should succeed in selling bonds for his enterprise right away, he would be the first in the field. But the Clough syndicate have some what the advantage in having completed their survey, in owning the Janesville franchise, and in having an option upon the local line in Janesville.

WOULD PLOW RIVER WITH A PLOW BOAT

Novel Idea of Clearing Out a Channel in the Missouri River.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—Poets and writers in verse and prose have dwelt upon the gallant ships that "plough the sea," but if Congressman Burton, chairman of the new inland waterways commission, hearkens to the advice of an Iowa man with regard to the Missouri river, the ploughing will become a reality, and not a figure of speech. The Iowa man is a man by the name of Eacrett who hails from Strahan, and his advanced ideas probably will be given consideration by the commission.
Mr. Eacrett's plan is to plough the channel of the Missouri river, loosening the mud and sand, and allowing the swift current to carry this loosened matter down with the tide, thus establishing a channel that will be navigable at all seasons of the year. It is a more or less old plan of letting the current scour out a channel, but the introduction of a specially constructed boat, built on the lines of a "lister" plough and operated in much the same manner as that bit of agricultural machinery is operated on large western farms, is a new and novel idea. Mr. Eacrett would construct a boat of light draft fitted out with these implements, the ploughs to be fastened on long beams that could be raised and lowered over the stern of the boat. The cost of the boats, if the Eacrett plan is carried out, would not be heavy, and the operating expenses would be reasonable.

Congressman Burton has received a letter from the Iowa, but beyond acknowledging its receipt, has expressed no opinion as to the feasibility of the plan, or whether he believes it entitled to serious consideration. Mr. Eacrett in his letter to Chairman Burton, says:
"Owing to the physical capacity of the railroads being inadequate to move the freight of this great and growing northwest, the demand for freight transportation is imperative, and the solution of the problem is to put this giant to work who, in all ages past, has been devouring in his mighty maw tens of thousands of acres of soil, richer than Egypt."

"What I wish is to get an appropriation to build a boat with which to give the matter a trial. I have no doubt in my mind, but what a steamboat of light draft, properly fitted out with plough-like implements, would soon make a well-defined channel that would float with ease all the vessels necessary to carry the freight of this inland empire. Your intelligent cooperation is solicited in this matter."

While Congressman Burton has not given any expression of opinion on the plan, as has been said, he and his colleagues on the new inland waterways commission will have opportunity next week to study the matter on the ground. The members of the commission will leave Friday for Kansas City, where they will take passage on the government boat Sutter and St. Louis. Arrived at St. Louis, they will board the government steamer Mississippi for an inspection of the Mississippi river as far south as New Orleans.

This tour of investigation, which will probably occupy ten or eleven days, is the result of petitions from the governors of seventeen states filed with the commission. The petitioners hoped that the commission would make the trip from the most northerly navigable point in the Mississippi to the Gulf, while others hoped that the journey would start at the lakes and proceed down the Chicago drainage canal and the Illinois river to the Father of Waters, thus demonstrating the justice of the claim that a ship channel from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico is a feasible plan. The tour will be made as to be made as the compromise the members of the commission finding it impossible to be away from their duties at the national capital long enough to complete the lengthy trip.

With the stimulation of interest that will follow the inspection trip of the commission, the national rivers and harbors congress will take steps to increase its membership, through its secretary, Capt. J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati. The work of the congress in keeping before the people the necessity for paying more attention to the matter of water transportation probably did more than any other one thing to bring about the creation of the commission.

SAVINGS OF YEARS LOST AND RECOVERED

John Kaiser, a Swiss Immigrant, bound for Monroe, Dropped $2,200 on Passenger Car Floor.

From Monroe comes an interesting story of the loss and recovery of $2,200 in bills and currency last week by John Kaiser, an immigrant from Switzerland. The pilgrim was on his way to that city with the savings accumulated in the manufacture of cheese during many years of toil in the old country. He was carrying his railroad ticket in the pocket-book containing the money and after leaving Chicago on the four o'clock train for Janesville, took it out for inspection of Conductor Condes. Afterward he replaced the pasteboard in the leather book and supposedly tucked the same back in his inside vest pocket. But after he had changed cars here and Conductor Leahy asked for the ticket, he was dismayed to find that the inside vest pocket was empty. His loss was reported to Agent Zimmerman upon his arrival in Monroe and the latter wired Conductor Condes. The latter searched the coach and found the missing property lying on the floor. The money consisted of four $500 bills and currency of small denominations. Kaiser came back to Janesville, and identified and recovered the pocket-book and its contents on Conductor Condes' return trip. In all Wisconsin there was probably no happier man that day.

CLOSING CONCERT IS GIVEN BY THE CLUB

The Apollo Club Ends a Most Successful Season With Delightful Concert.

After a most successful series of concerts the Apollo club closed its present season of artistic endeavor by giving, as many think, the best concert of the whole season in the Cargill Memorial church last evening, to an appreciative audience of fully three hundred.
With Mr. Frederick W. Carberry, tenor, Miss Ruhoff, accompanist, Mr. Carl Brueckner, cellist of the Thomas orchestra, together with Mrs. George Fifield, violin, Mrs. John F. Sweeney and Miss Ade Pond at the magnificent Marshall-Bennett organ and Mesdames Frank Bohlin and Wm. T. Sherer at the piano, a very fine and thoroughly meritorious performance was assured and subsequently carried out.
It is not often that a really good tenor voice is heard in Janesville, so that it was a distinct pleasure and profit to have Mr. Carberry brought amongst us; for although he was unfortunately suffering from hoarseness which somewhat marred his lower registers, yet his higher and upper tones left nothing to be desired. Mr. Carberry possesses a very sweet and true tenor voice of great power and compass, and an interpretive ability of much sympathy, good taste and judgment. He was especially pleasing in the song cycle "Love's Epitome" by Mary Turner, Salter and in "Rubenstein's Dream." He was enthusiastically received and kindly responded to an encore.
Seldom, if ever, has a Janesville audience privileged to hear so magnificent violinello playing than that of Mr. Brueckner. Sometimes one is tempted to cast his vote for the violin, and then at other times for the organ, as the kind of instruments, but to hear a Brueckner play such a perfect cello as was heard last night, one's vote has, perhaps reluctantly, to be given to the cello as "King." And Mr. Brueckner's playing was characterized by that truly artistic reserve and humility which one does not always find, but when found, makes a performance so very enjoyable. The truly great are even humble, but "instrumental fireworks" pass with many for art and merit. Exquisitely executed in every detail were the Cyclic and Popper numbers, to which he kindly responded with an encore, while the Bach excerpts from suite III—were magnificent severely classical and unaccompanied.
The rest of the program, given into the hands of our own town's people, was the songs behind any of their previous performances on their chosen instruments. We know that Mrs. Sweeney shines at the piano, but hardly less does she do so at the organ. Miss Ade Pond's concerted organ parts were especially meritorious, in that she kept her accompaniments as such, and not as so many would do under similar conditions, allow them to be the predominating factor.
The Marshall-Bennett organ was heard to true and exquisite advantage in this concert, and both the owners and builders may feel proud of such a beautiful instrument.

THE GIRL AND THE BEE

A Story of the Ignorance of a City Girl.
The city girl coming down to breakfast at the farm house and observing a plate of honey on the table said, "Oh, I see you keep a bee!"
"That's about the way some people talk about the blight of baldness—just as if a bald head was something one got all at once instead of being the result of long depletion of an insidious germ which thrives upon the roots of the hair and succumbs to only one known remedy, Nebro's Herpicide.
Nebro's Herpicide is not a tonic any more than electricity is a fluid. It is an exterminator, pure and simple.

Human "Steam"; Keeping It Up

The Secret Of That Tireless Energy Some People Possess.

There is another kind of steam than that in which the boy James Watt, watching his mother's tea-kettle, first saw the great possibilities that long have been realized.
This other kind of steam is human "steam." And it is a most important factor in our affairs.
Some people call this human "steam" by other names. They call it "push," sometimes, or "hustle," or "get-up," or "sting." Well, all of these, but after all it's just "steam." It's the power to do things, a seemingly tireless power which some people possess.
"This life," says the perfect maled wheat food, "is man and women and children with the power to do things. It makes them strong in body and mind. It keeps up the steam." When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, every flake baked crisp and brown, it is the most delicious and most healthful food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is nutrition, digested most readily, even by the weakest stomach, because the vitalized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted by fine malt extract into maltose, or malt sugar.
There's no other food like Malta-Vita! None "just as good." Sold by all grocers, 10c cents.

MAKES THE GRINDING EASY

If you want to drink real coffee, buy a sealed package of Arbuckle's ARIOSA and grind it in your own kitchen as you want to use it. Roasted coffee loses its strength and flavor if exposed to the air, and even its identity as coffee after grinding. Loose coffee sold out of a bag, bin or tin is usually dusty and soiled by handling.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, May 7, 1867.—The Concert Tonight.—Wherever Frank Lumbard and his company sung, their entertainment has been spoken of in the highest terms. It is entirely safe, we think, to promise the public a musical treat of more than ordinary merit, at Lumbard's Hall tonight.

Judge Miller, of the United States district court, has granted an injunction to prevent the consolidation of the Milwaukee & St. Paul and Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien railway companies. One of the bills of the last legislature was to pass the act authorizing this attempted consolidation, and we are glad to see the effort thwarted by the court.

BUCKLEY TRIO, AT THE WEST SIDE THEATRE ALL THIS WEEK

Since Texas Sweethearts was produced over two years ago, other plays, very similar in title, have appeared. However this is the original. City Scene Production, with those splendid artists, Alan Villair and Pearl Lewis in the leading parts. They have made a big hit wherever they played and Managers, Press and Public all agree that this is an attraction worth seeing. It is now playing return engagements to larger receipts than ever and is good for seasons to come as a money maker. The story is intensely interesting from start to finish, interspersed with rich, clean comedy and refined specialties. You laugh, cry and applaud. This is the only company presenting this play and the leading parts are in the hands of the people for whom they were especially written and consequently and naturally. Alan Villair as "Jack Harvey" is splendid and Pearl Lewis as "Texas Raymond" is as clever as she is pretty and with her luxuriant hair hanging loose about her shoulders she is about as "stunning" as any on the American stage.

Coming for one night at the Myers Theatre, Friday, May 10.

BOARD ACTED ON NEW THIRD WARD SCHOOL QUESTION

At Special Meeting Last Evening Appointment of Architect to Act as Advisor Was Authorized.

At a special meeting held in the high school building last evening the Janesville board of education took initial action on the proposition of a new school building for the third ward. A liberally signed petition, asking that the Jefferson school building be extensively remodeled at a cost of $25,000, had previously been received and considered. This matter and the question of erecting an entirely new building were discussed. By a vote the body then authorized the appointment of some architect, who makes a specialty of school structures, to look over the Jefferson building and report whether or not the remodeling proposition is feasible.

Practically the entire corps of teachers in both high and graded schools were reappointed for the year 1907-08. It is very probable, however, that several resignations will be received within the next month and the vacancies will have to be filled.

THAT TRIANGLE IS AGAIN TRISECTED

Milton College Student Accomplishes the Work This Time—Said to Be Correct.

Milton, Wis., May 7.—To the Editor: The following appeared in the Record-Herald recently and may interest your readers: "U. P. Davis, '07, of Milton College, Milton, Wis., has succeeded in trisecting an angle, a feat never before performed in the history of mathematics. The work has been submitted to several professors of mathematics, who have passed their opinions upon it as perfectly logical and without a flaw. A student, the problem of trisecting an angle is one on which mathematicians have worked since the days of Euclid and which is now generally admitted to be impossible by means of compass and rule. Certain mechanical devices, however, have been several years in use for accomplishing the end practically, and there are said to have been solutions by the use of some of the higher curves of mathematics. If Mr. Davis has an analytical solution it may be a great thing, but if it is a mechanical solution it is nothing new."

FIRST ACTIVE MOVE FOR BASEBALL TEAM

Effort to Raise $200 for Rental of Fair Grounds Will be Made by Henry Wendt.

No enthusiastic response having been given the call for a mass meeting to organize a Janesville baseball club, Henry Wendt and a number of other fans have decided to proceed with the formation of a team. The biggest item in the maintaining of nine is the rental of grounds. The fair grounds for the season will cost $200 and tomorrow a subscription paper to raise such an amount will be circulated. It is thought that the money can be raised and the current expenses will be paid out of the gate receipts, the net proceeds to be divided among the players according to the discretion of the manager and captain. The team will be independent, playing Sunday afternoons. It is expected that a full schedule for the summer can be arranged, there being a large number of strong professional and semi-professional nines in this part of the country and the chance for "open-day games" with the state league clubs being excellent.

ONE MUSTN'T TRIFLE WITH THE SALVATION ARMY GIRLS

H. O. Schmidley Paid a Small Fine in Court This Morning for Being Too Friendly.

In municipal court this morning H. O. Schmidley pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge preferred by Treasurer Annie Holden of the local Salvation Army Corps and paid a fine of $2 and costs. The trouble occurred Saturday evening when the young women entered the kitchen of Mr. Schmidley's restaurant with a bundle of War Crys and in offering her wares asked: "Do you want to see me today?" In a spirit of fun Mr. Schmidley appears to have turned from his work and to have laid a hand on her shoulder as he answered: "Sure, I do." This tentative bon camarade overture was not taken in the genial manner expected and there were complaints at the Salvation Army headquarters, talk about deserting and insulting the Army's uniform, conferences with policemen, indignation on the street, and no end of trouble for the man who had trifled but who had not expected to give serious offense. Capt. Sparrow insisted that the offender should be held up as a "terrible example" and would consent to no settlement out of court.

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, liver complaint, torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long-standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchitis, throat and lung disease (except consumption), accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow of Jefferson Med. College, Prof. Hark of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley of Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Schenck, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hark, M. D. of Hannemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine but not for sale through druggists for like purposes that has any such professional endorsement, worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple refined, glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native medicinal roots and is safe and reliable. A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't Let Talk Take the Place of Test

Don't let anyone's prejudice or selfish opposition convince you that any of the "Triangle A" brands are not better than any other cigars sold at the same price.

That's no way to judge.

You can test it for yourself, and you are the only one who knows when the cigar suits you.

Smoke any "Triangle A" brand and compare it fairly with any other cigar sold at the same price.

We are willing to stake the success of our whole business on public opinion founded on this test.

The experience which has been combined in producing the American Cigar Company's cigars was acquired from the operation of nearly 100 of the most famous and successful factories in Cuba and the United States. And processes of proper refining and scientific blending mean much to every smoker.

You can bank on the "Triangle A" sign every time. No more raw, green, bitter tobacco in your cigars!

A MAKER OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM,

Copyright, 1905, 1906, by LITTLE, BROWN AND COMPANY.

CHAPTER IX.
Mlle. Mermillion was not warmly welcomed at the Grand hotel. The porter believed that Sir George Duncombe was out. He would inquire if mademoiselle would wait, but he did not usher her into the drawing room, as would have been his duty in an ordinary case, or even ask her to take a seat.

Mlle. Mermillion was of the order of young person who resents, but this afternoon she was far too nervous. During the porter's temporary absence she started at every footstep and scrutinized anxiously every passerby. Often she looked behind her through the glass doors into the street. When at last he reappeared, alone her disappointment was obvious.

"Sir George Duncombe is out, mademoiselle," he announced. "Will you be pleased to leave a message or your name?"

"You do not know how long he will be," she inquired.

"Sir George left no word," the man answered. "He has been out since before breakfast."

Mademoiselle decided to leave a note. The porter supplied her with note paper and envelopes. She sat down at a small round table and once more glanced around. Convinced that she was not being watched, she hastily wrote a few lines, sealed and addressed the envelope and handed it to the porter.

"You will give this to Sir George immediately he returns," she begged. "It is important."

"Monsieur, shall I have it without doubt, mademoiselle," the man answered.

She pulled down her veil and left the place hurriedly. When she reached the boulevard she slackened her pace and drew a little breath of relief.

"Ten thousand francs!" she murmured to herself. "If I took that with me, they would receive me at home. I might start all over again. It is worth a little risk. Heavens, how nervous I am!"

She entered a cafe and drank a petit verre. As she set her glass down a man looked at her over the top of his newspaper. She tried to smile, but her heart was beating, and she was sick with fear.

"What a fool I am!" she muttered. "It is a stranger too. If he were one of Gustav's lot, I should know him."

She returned his smile, and he came and sat down beside her. They had another liqueur together. Later they left the place together.

Duncombe returned to his hotel tired out after a disappointing day spent in making fruitless inquiries in various parts of Paris. He had learned nothing. He seemed as far off the truth as ever.

He opened the note which the porter handed him listlessly enough. "Afterward, however, it was different. This is what he read:

"I can tell you about the young English lady if you will promise upon your honor that you will not betray me. I dare not come here again. I dare not even speak to you while the others are about. Go to the Cafe Sylva tonight and order dinner in a private room. I will come to the past."

FLORENCE.

Duncombe drew a little sigh of relief. At last, then, he was to know something. He was very English, a bad amateur detective and very weary of his task. Nothing but his intense interest in the girl herself—an interest which seemed to have upset the whole tenor of his life—would have kept him here plodding so relentlessly away at a task which seemed daily to present more difficulties and complications.

Yet so absorbed had he become that the ordinary duties and pleasures which made up the routine of his life scarcely ever even entered into his mind.

"There is the Cafe Mazarin," he added confidentially. "A few steps only from here, a most amusing place. The most wonderful ladies there; too—very chic and crowded every night. Monsieur should really try it. The commissionaire would direct him—a few yards only."

"Much obliged to you," Duncombe answered, turning on his heel. "I may look in there presently."

He seated himself at a small round table and ordered a drink. The people here were of a slightly different class from those who had the entire to the supper room and were mostly crowded round the bar itself. At a small desk with a few feet of him a middle-aged woman with a cold, hard face sat with a book of accounts before her and a pile of bills. There was something almost spine-chilling about her appearance.

She never spoke. Her expression never changed. Once their eyes met, she looked at him steadfastly, but said nothing. The girl behind the bar also took note of him. She was very tall and slim, absolutely colorless and with coils of fair hair drawn tightly about her forehead. She was never without a cigarette, lighting a fresh one always from its predecessor, talking all the while unceasingly, but without the slightest change of expression.

Once she waved the men and girls who stood talking to her on one side and Duncombe fancied that it was because she desired a better view of him.

Suddenly he was startled by a voice close at hand. He looked up. The woman at the desk was speaking to him.

"Monsieur would be well advised," she said, "if he departed."

Duncombe looked at her in amazement. She was writing rapidly in her book and her eyes were fixed upon her work. If he had not actually heard her it would have been hard to believe that she had spoken.

"But why, madame?" he asked. "Why should I go? I am in no one's way. I can pay for what I have."

She dipped her pen in the ink. "I know nothing of monsieur or his business," she said, still without even glancing toward him, "but I know that M. Alfred does not wish him to remain."

BROADHEAD

Broadhead, May 7.—Mrs. Kittie Jackson of Chamberlin, South Dakota, is visiting her parents and brothers and sisters here.

Rev. Ward of Madison was greeted by a packed house at Broughton's opera-house last evening and he gave them a good talk upon the temperance question.

A subscription paper has been started to raise money for remodeling the M. E. parsonage.

B. E. McCormick was in Madison and Milwaukee on Friday and Saturday.

La Verne Dodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dodge of this city, and Miss Eva Collins of Juda were married in Rockford, Illinois, on Thursday, May 24. Mr. Dodge holds the position of bookkeeper for the American Cigar Co. in this city and is surrounded by a large circle of friends, while the bride of his choice is one of Juda's most estimable young ladies who will be welcomed into Broadhead society. They will be at home in the Spaulding house on Main street after June first.

The Demont silver medal contest in Broughton's opera-house on Saturday drew a good audience that listened to a splendid program. The piano solos by Mrs. Murdoch were especially nice and the vocal solo by Mrs. Don Collins was much enjoyed, as indeed was the violin solo by Rockwell Barnes. The contestants all did remarkably well, but the medal was awarded to Miss Davidene Robinson, better known here as Dolly Robinson. Following is the program: Piano solo, Mrs. Kathleen Murdoch; Invocation, Rev. J. Lloyd Smith; Vocal solo, Mrs. Don Collins; "A Voice from the Poorhouse," Mabel Losey; "The Battle Cry," Davidene Robinson; "What Shall We Do About It?" Lee Menor; Piano solo, Mrs. Kathleen Murdoch; "An Old Man's Account of a Terrible Meeting," Elmer Austin; "A Terrible Charge," Harry Ward; "One of the Fallen," Fay McKenzie; Violin solo, Rockwell Barnes; Decision of Judges; Presentation of Medal.

Boston Judge Will Issue an Order Restraining the Strikers.

Boston, May 7.—Judge Loring, in the equity session of the judicial supreme court, announced Monday that he would issue a temporary injunction Tuesday against the officers and members of the local teamsters' union, restraining them from certain acts in connection with the strike, now in progress against nine teaming firms. Judge Loring said he would confine the injunction to enjoining the officers and members of the union from inciting assaults, cutting ropes and harnesses and taunting persons in the street, and the expenditure by the union of money for the payment of the fares of passengers out of town, or for any purpose whatever in connection with the strike.
